

Finding the time to work on scrapbooking projects

Organizing and storing supplies

Lack of inspiration for layouts

Difficulty choosing photos to include

Running out of adhesive

Finding the right embellishments

Dealing with messy scraps and leftovers

Feeling overwhelmed by the amount of supplies

Not having enough space to work on projects

Running out of storage space for completed albums

Difficulty finding matching papers and embellishments

Feeling stuck in a creative rut

Not knowing where to start on a new project

Feeling like projects never get finished

Struggling with cutting and trimming photos and paper

Not having enough variety in supplies

Difficulty finding the right size album for projects

Feeling like projects are too time-consuming

Dealing with interruptions while working on projects

Feeling pressured to create perfect layouts

Difficulty finding the right tools for specific tasks

Feeling like projects are too expensive to complete

Not having a dedicated workspace for scrapbooking

Feeling like layouts are too repetitive

Dealing with creative blocks

Not having access to new and trendy supplies

Feeling like projects lack a cohesive theme

Difficulty organizing and categorizing photos

Feeling like layouts are too cluttered

Not having enough time to document memories

Feeling like projects don't reflect personal style

Difficulty incorporating journaling into layouts

Not having a good printer for printing photos

Feeling like layouts are too simplistic

Dealing with distractions while working on projects

Feeling like projects lack creativity

Difficulty finding the right color scheme for layouts

Feeling like layouts are too generic

Not having access to a variety of fonts for journaling

Dealing with limited space in albums for photos

Feeling like layouts are too flat

Not having access to inspiration from other scrapbookers

Difficulty creating layouts for specific events or occasions

Feeling like layouts lack dimension

Not having access to tutorials or workshops for new techniques

Dealing with adhesive that doesn't hold up over time

Feeling like projects are too repetitive

Difficulty creating layouts with multiple photos

Not having access to high-quality printing services for photos

Feeling like projects are too overwhelming to complete